

February 16

Alex,

I don't have a full letter for you yet. I'm still, well, processing everything, and trying to untie the knot of anxiety that's been a constant companion for the last week and a half. But I wanted you to know that I got your CD, and that I'm really, really glad you're all right — well, mostly all right. So, I'll talk to you soon.

Zoe
